ROAR OF TIME

a bit of nostalgia

About a month ago, the new Pokémon versions, X and Y, were released worldwide. From the official announcement the 8th of January 2013, to the 12th of October launch, Nintendo experimented a new way of communication with its fans, using Nintendo Direct as a tool, and releasing the games in a way to avoid the maximum informations leak. This short page will retrace the XY roadmap.

The graphics change, but the feels stay the same

WHAT'S NEXT?

A 1.1 patch was released around the 25/10 after a major save glitch discovered in Lumiose City.
The 31, the Volcanion, Hoopad and Drancie leak open a new hope to hacking in XY...
For the best, for the worst?

End of leaks.

P-DAY - Release!

PLACES & PEOPLE

because it's a world like another,
with goods, bads and uglies
but this one is really better

ECRUTEAK CITY

"A historical city where the Past meets the Present"

A high red proud tower touching the clouds,
and another one, gray, burned to the first floor.
Behind the immaculate one, a deep forest,
with yellowish to red tones. The scenery is breathtaking.
Above the roofs of ageless houses, some Hoothoots are flying,
and ghastlies appear, called by the falling sun.
Some music can be heard from the Kimono Dance Theater.
You've left Route 37 to enter in this beautiful place.

Did you know it? (we're sure you did)

The "Cianwood Pharmacy" was originally planned to be in Ecruteak City. Some leftovers of this idea are still present in the game and can be accessed through hack.
A rom-hack called "Pokémon : The Forgotten Maps" recreate Johto as it was planned to be during the beta. The beta maps and events are restaured, and the Pharmacy is present in Ecruteak. So, the travel to Cianwood is optional, as the pharmacy is in Ecruteak and Chuck's Gym is in the restaured Lake of Rage Town.

ECRUTEAK made some medicine for me.

Bill's Best!

of the web!

What's "trending" on the pokéweb these days?
Pokémon X /Y of course! Egg hatching, Wondertrade, pokémon spots, mysteries... (Almost) everyone is playing the latest versions of our favorite franchise, and want to get the best of the game.
After weeks where only PXY related posts made the front page of Reddit, the fans seem to began to be satisfied, and little by little miscellaneous (re-)posts related to old gens are reappearing.
What's going on on pokémon news sites? Nothing really relevant since the 1.1 update and the leak of the N°719+ pokémons; we are patiently waiting for official revelations, and (middly?) interested by the incoming Detective Pikachu game.

Unless you lived in a cave for the last month, you know exactly "Who's that pokémon", and these eyes keep stealing your soul...

You've certainly heard of Mega Gengar, but what about Stoned Gengy?

About egg hatching : if you're redditor, you should know 1001 ways to hatch an egg effortlessly now. (c austinanderson97)

What is Porygon Mag?

Porygon Mag is a small Webzine related to the Pokémon world, and released every week. Composed of about 5 pages, it is without any pretension and aim to talk about what's trending in the pokéfandom with lot of graphics, corocoro way. Sometimes it will come with fun stuff (icons, cursors, etc)!
You can use it to diffuse your pokémon-related créations: websites, clothes, apps and webcomics. All that will fit and be relevant will be published along the weeks!
